GSA Administrator Lurita Doan to Keynote September 12th
Telework Exchange Town Hall Meeting

Federal CIOs and CISOs Speak out on Telework

ALEXANDRIA, Va., August 14, 2007 – Today, Telework ExchangeSM, a public-private partnership focused on eliminating telework gridlock, announced its 2nd Annual Telework Exchange Town Hall Meeting program as well as its opening keynote – Lurita Doan, administrator, General Services Administration (GSA). Taking place at the Ronald Reagan Building and International Trade Center on September 12, 2007 the Town Hall Meeting focuses on enabling telework and how it supports the next generation of government operations. Early registration event rates are currently available through Wednesday, August 15, 2007.

“Telework is a major part of GSA’s holistic approach to energy conservation and work/life balance,” Administrator Doan said. “We have made great efforts to save energy in our Federal buildings, but we also have an enormous opportunity to reduce emissions from the cars of thousands of Federal employees sitting in daily traffic. That’s why GSA developed 14 telework centers that reduce millions of pounds of emissions, save hundreds of thousands of gallons of fuel, and allow Federal employees to spend more time with their families and less time in their cars.”

The 2nd Annual Telework Exchange Town Hall Meeting will feature influential telework leaders who will offer insight on the current telework landscape and provide attendees with the know-how required to adopt and expand telework programs. Federal agency C-level decision makers will join groundbreaking discussions at the Town Hall Meeting to advocate government telework programs.
